PSCH Employees Donate the 'Gift of Life' to Others

“Our staff has the special quality of caring for others in need. This blood drive reinforces that commitment and compassion.”

Robert Hettenbach, President, PSCH

A blood donation saved my mother's life," said Alnnye Reyes, Assistant Manager, Island House, ". . . and hopefully donating blood will do the same for someone in need." This was the story which some two dozen PSCH staff members echoed as they made their donations. "I want to do my part to 'give the gift of life' to others," said Chris Krosche, Director of Program Evaluation, Quality Assurance, who donated blood because of the "critical shortage" that New York City can face during a crisis. "It was simple and a pain free way to save others."

PSCH has proudly partnered with the New York-Presbyterian/Queens for this event and plans to hold other blood drives throughout the year.

Each pint of blood collected can help save up to five lives which in turn, will have a positive impact on their family and friends. What a great way to pay it forward and make an impact on people in our community.

A special thank you to Debbie Andruk, Benefits Administrator and the entire PSCH human resources team who spearheaded this initiative. Our staff has shown their commitment in helping others in need. If you missed the blood drive this time, there will be other opportunities in the spring for you to donate this precious gift. ■
