

(L-R) Andrew Carbonara, Vice President, Facilities Management; Kevin Bartels, Director, Clean Corp., WellLife Network; Joe Scott, 2017 NYSID Award winner; Sherry Tucker, President; and Ann Marie Barbarotta, Senior Vice President & Chief Operating Officer.

Joseph Scott Wins NYSID Award “Named 2017 William B. Joslin Outstanding Performer”

“It’s an honor to work at Clean Corp. I love working here. I know I’m a part of a team and I know we’re helping people.”

*Joe Scott
Clean Corp. Employee*

Joe Scott, a Clean Corp. employee, was recently awarded the coveted William B. Joslin Outstanding Performer Award. This award, in its 14th year, is given to 58 New Yorkers state-wide, employed on NYSID Preferred Source contracts. All Outstanding Performers receive a certificate of achievement, a cash award, and are featured in an annual yearbook.

In presenting the award Sherry Tucker, President, WellLife Network commented, “We are so pleased that NYSID has recognized Joe’s dedication to work and his work ethic. He has overcome personal challenges and embraces the concept of teamwork.”

Joe has been employed by Clean Corp. since January, 2013. He is a role model and mentor to his co-workers and greatly admired by the customers he serves daily. Joe is highly skilled in a wide variety of janitorial and groundskeeping procedures and possesses excellent judgement, leadership and communication skills in providing services to NYSID State contracts.

A Dedicated Employee – An Inspiration to Others

Joe is committed to mentoring employees who need special attention, assisting them with improving their accuracy, skill level and performance to industry standards. As a leader, Joe’s friendly disposition inspires teamwork, confidence and productivity among other workers and staff.

This year Clean Corp., a subsidiary of WellLife Network, has helped to train some 130 individuals for the workforce and assisted WellLife Network Vocational Services in placing 32 candidates in competitive employment positions. ■